Dear Transfer Students,

We haven’t met you yet, but we already have at least one (extremely exciting) thing in common: you think we are going to say that the answer is: We are all transfer students. Wrong! (Even though that is true). The correct answer is: We are all Penn students!

We haven’t met you yet, but we already have at least one (extremely exciting) thing in common. You think we are going to say that we are going to become friends. Wrong! You think we are going to say that we are going to learn from each other. Wrong! (Even though that is true). The correct answer is: We are all Penn students!

As transfer students (from Colorado School of Mines and Simmons College), we were founded in 2011 by a close-knit group of students who saw the need to build the transfer community on campus. Over the past few years TSO has played an increasingly central role in the coordination and staffing of your transfer orientation, as well as making the academic and social transition as easy as possible. Everything we do as an organization is with the following two goals in mind: to bring new transfer students together and to help new transfers integrate into the Penn community. These are our goals, and we are committed to carrying them out.

The Transfer Student Organization (TSO) is a resource for all who transfer to Penn. We were founded in 2011 by a close-knit group of students who saw the need to build the transfer community on campus. Things to note:
- We are all Penn students!
